The state of the fraternity

Progress, disciplinary problems mark year

Most-ever chapters ranked number 1

By Robert M. Jones, Grand President Charles N. White, Jr., Executive Director

The fraternity's progress continues in the important areas of growth and qual ity. Chapters ranked in the top half on campus by their peers increased to 100, or 77.3% of our 233 chapters. Of those, 75 were ranked in the top position on their campuses—an impressive showing for Sigma Ph. Epsilon.

This represents the most chapters we have ever had ranked number on and the top half Also, 23 chapters are the most we have ever had operating. We are the only fraternty ranked in the top few, in both quality and quantity, of the 56 mer's national fraternties.

To paint an altogether glowing picture based on these impressive statistics would be misleading Fifteen of our chapters have poor cam pus reputations, and are experiencing problems. Ten of these are ranked in the fourth quarter on their campuses, and five are ranked last. A few Sig Epchapters were disciplined by their host institutions, and the national fraterinty subsequently intervened. Specifics for some of these are in our new "Chapter Conditions" section of this Journal.

While disciplinary problems, caused by unacceptable behavor, are not becoming commonplace, they occured frequently enough in 1981 82 to cause concern Failure to deal with incidents in a clear and forceful manner would disregard the warning signs and cause serious library.

We want alumn to know that the national fraterinty uses every resource in these situations to assure that our doors don't close. If we cannot avoid closing a chapter, there is protection for our return at the earliest ussible time.

Each issue of the Journal will contain reports on chapters where intervention was necessary. Our success depends on the involvement of local area alumni, who assume some responsibility for the Most problems we face involve alcohol.

"Most problems we face involve alcohol; there must be an awareness of this by our alumni and undergraduate leaders."

there must be an awareness of this by our alumn; and undergraduate leaders Reasonable use of alcohol and responsibility for it at chapter activities, have to become our standard. Now is the time for our chanters to assume a leadership role in this campus-wide problem. The first step is using campus and community resources for educating and counseling on alcohol and related problems. Internal standards, and a commitment to high expectations, must fol

Financial stability continues

by Frank J. Ruck, Jr., Grand Tressurer

Recause our chapters performed well in recruiting new members and because our headquarters management staff did a fine job managing the fraternity, the fiscal year ended June 30, 1982, was another year of progress. The income and expense statement below points out that we have enjoyed a strong positive operating result for two years.

The consolidated operations of Sigma Phi Epsilon includes our National Housing Corporation, the Sigma Phi Epsilon Educational Foundation, and the Chapter Investment Fund These operations show total assets at market value of 5.3 million dollars:

Surma Phi Epsilon Fraternity (Grand Chapter) $2.6 milhon

National Housing Corporation 1.2 million

Sigma Phi Epsilon Educational Foundation 8 million

Chapter Investment Fund 7 million Our fraternity is on a healthy foundation and prepared for the chall lenges and changes which face us This will allow us to continue our mission to assist young men in devel oping values and skills to achieve their potential.

First chapters break 1,500 initiate mark

Purdue University (Indiana Alpha) remains the fraternity's largest chapter, in terms of initiates. This year the Journal forms a new membership club—those with 1,500 initiates, or more Joining Purdue as an original member of the club is the chapter at the University of Florida (Florida Alpha) Alphai Lawrence University (Wisconsin Alphai) joined the "1,000 Club" this year Ball State University (Indiana Gamma) remains the youngest member in the club with a founding date of February 21, 1950. The chapter will celebrate its 80th anniversary this year.

The chapter report table has a few types of information The "membership" column tells you the number of undergraduate members (instrates and pledges) as of March 1, 1982.

The next two columns report the number of pledges and initiates for the aca-demic year 1981-82 (July 1, 1981-June 30.

Finally, the "CIF value" column re-ports the amount of money the chapter has in the Chapter Investment Fund (CIF). Each chapter depositis money to the CIF every year, and the money can only be withdrawn to use for buying a house, or making capital improvements

The Educational Foundation

Over $16,000 provided in scholarships

The competition has ended, the envelopes have been opened, and the checks are in the mail.

Checks to the tune of $16,660 will help pay tuition for $3 undergraduate brothers. That tells the story for those chapters which have their own scholarship funds within the Sigma Phi Epsilon Educational Foundation. So far, 15 chapters have presented their scholarships. The Educational Foundation offers two types of scholarship funds. The first is a national competition, with all Sig Ep undergraduates eligible to apply. Competition for the national scholarships is tough. Criteria include academic performance, fraternity leadership, campus participation, and financial need. Five brothers received $1,000 each for the 1982 1983 academic year. This year, the program will be expanded to award ten.

$1,000 scholarships
The second type of scholarship comes from funds maintained within the Educational Foundation by individual chapters Through this program, alumin may earmark their contributions for a specific chapter's scholarship fund. This year, 15

chapter funds made awards, totalling $11,660, to 48 brothers. An individual chapter fund must reach $2,500 to begin making awards. Once a fund has reached this level, the interest income provides the money for the scholarships. The fund can be named to hornor a brother once it has reached $5,000. National competition winners, and chapter fund recipients, are listed below

Everyone Needs a Will. Estate fax laws have changed. Trusts can help provide income to beneficiar-earlier as laws have enabled. Trusts can nelly provide income to beneficiaries, while shielding the assets from taxes. To set up the trust, you need a will Neglecting your will may mean prolonged legal proceedings, which will drain the assets of wur estate. Planning can eliminate this possibility, and an important part of planning is a will.

The Sigma Phi Epsilon Educational Foundation is offering a series of brochures, free for the asking, to help brothers plan their estates. The first is "Seven Reasons Why Your Will is Still Important," and is available by writing to the Educational Foundation, at the address bired below.

The brochure discusses:

Determining the distribution of your property

 Naming a guardian for your children

3 Benefiting from trust arrangements

Work ethic strong with Chevron chief

By Clinton Goldman (San Francisco

You have heard the saying before, but when it comes from the president of Chevron U.S.A., you tend to believe it. "Hard work pays off," says Kenneth Derr, chief executive officer of the Standard Oil subsidiary, and a Sigma Phi Epsilon alumnus from Cornell. "Hard work is still - as far as I'n concerned -the first necessity of life. If the guy has a problem that's due by Friday, he will stay at work until 10 p.m. on Thursday to get it done.

"Not only do we look at how hard eople work, but at how they work, I like the people who will take a differe approach to a particular problem. The kind of guy who will take a risk is the name of the game in today's highly competitive business industry," said Brother Derr from his 21st floor office in San Francisco's financial district.

"Overall, fraternity life was great. It gave you the opportunity to work with a group, to develop your leadership and communication

"It was like running a little business. You had to balance the books and keep everyone happy, which wasn't always that easy. We faced many problems dealing with people, and heard about them in a hurry, because pubody was bashful Being in a fraternity is a great erience for a career in business

Brother Derr did his undergraduate work in mechanical engineering at Cornell (a five-year program), and completed a master's degree in business administration from the same in

"I was very active in a fund-raising campaign to build a new house because the old one was wearing out. Raising money was not that easy. I ended up spending more time on the Sig Ep fundsing campaign in my last year than I did in the business school

We had to do a little arm-twisting to get the house built, but we worked and we organized," said Brother Derr, who was president of his chapter's alumni at the time

As president of the New York Beta chapter, he managed about 65 men Today, as president of one of the coun try's largest oil companies. Brother Derr ersees 19,500 employees

Brother Derr says some of his success can be attributed to his work in the fra ternity, yet, he thinks getting a good education is most important for the coreer oriented individual

"The business community i more competitive every year. There is much higher percentage of people today with graduate degree

Even though our business, oil, is very technically oriented, we still look at an applicant's other activities. 'said Brother Derr. Let's get physical

By A. Lewis Vadheim, M.D. (Montana State '68)

Since earliest times man has exercised The caveman threw rocks, spears, heaved boulders, and ran in order to gather his food. He bent over, knelt, and did calis-thenics as part of religious ceremonies As more and more sophistication as rived, man's exercising evolved into games and competition. He used his brain to make his easier, and the age of specialization arrived. Craftsmen evolved Not everyone grew his own food or bunted his own animals Gradually, exercise came to be ignored, especially in western cultures, or was only for the privileged few who could afford it (or played in professional sports). People bought fancy machines, labor saving devices, and lived "the good life" with little

Unfortunately, this was the trend until late '60s, when people again started to exercise regularly. The incidents of heart disease, high blood pressure, and stroke helped convince people of the value of exercise.

More leisure time means a greater demand for simple, pleasureful activ that are reasonably mexpensive. Sports as diverse as tennis, sa ing, jogging swimming, and requetball have enjoyed tremendous growth began creeping into the American vocabulary less than 20 years ago In those initial, trendy days of the new fad, jogging became the latest medi cal panacea. Experts, some bona fide and some self-proclaimed, touted jogging as a cure-all for everything from heart disease to cancer, promoting a general feeling of

Now 10 to 15 years later, some folks still jog. Many others have tried it, gotten injured or disillusioned, and quit Some njured or uixinusionen ama qua-tever started an exercise program because door "don't have time or don't like to they "don't have time

Let's talk a little about the medical rea sons for an exercise program. Several studies have shown the value of vigoro exercise. A study, published in the New England Journal of Medicine, found that heart attacks were half as frequent in an exercising of college graduates, versus a sedentary group Another study, by the Scripts Climic in La Jolla, California, found that exercise substantially improved body weight, percent of fat, blood pressure, and lung fu tion. The study also found that exercise substantially reduced the blood triglyce ride level. Triglycerides are fats in the bloodstream, thought to contribute to hardening of the arteries and thus to strokes, heart attocks, and high blood

Studies have proven that when an overweight, mactive population is traine gradually over six months, all of the medvital signs outlined above improve.

In my own experience as an adult ath lete, and an internist, I am frequently asked about the virtues of exercise Ther is no question in my mind that regular exercise reduces stress-related diseases, high blood pressure, heart attacks, headaches, ulcers, nervous tension, and sleep lessness. These conditions comprise approximately one fourth to one third of my practice

Notice I said "reduces" stri diseases, not "cures" them Exercise is not a panacea It will not offset the detri mental effects of smoking, excess stress or too much alcohol. Nor is it a substitute for medications. It is a valuable tool to help human beings enjoy life, and live h day to the fullest.

Many people just plain feel better when they exercise—weight comes down, a sense of accomplishment exists, and a er self-image emerges.

Okay you have bought all of this so her 'At this paint it's time to define some goals. Why do you want to everise? Ho you want to feel better? Lose weight! Compet.' Spend more time with your family? Quit smoking?

In Brief

A new investor

Sigma Phi Epsilon will benefit fr the appointment of Clark H. Byrum (Indiana '57) to the Chapter Investment Fund Board of Managers. Brother Byrum will serve a three-year term, which began September 1, 1982.

Clark has served on the alumni board for the chapter at Indiana University (Indiana Beta) since 1966. He was elected president in 1967, and has held that position for the last 15 years.

Brother Byrum is founder and presi-dent of Key Life Insurance Company in Indianapolis. He is a member of the board of the American State Bank

The investment fund board mar the Chapter Investment Fund (CIF) Each chapter has an account in the CIF, and makes mandatory annual deposits The chapter can withdraw its money for buying, building or improving the chap ter house

Other members of the board are Dr Keith V. Smith (Ohio State '60), dean of the school of management at Purdue University; and chairman Norman E. Nabhan (Purdu '71), a tax shelter spe cialist with E.F. Hutton in Chicago

The Purdue Plan

"Ebony and Ivory weekend" was a clear-cut black and white decision at Purdue University The Indiana Alpha chapter helped sponsor this event pro moting racial unity along with the Alpha Phi Alpha (a predominently black fraternity) and Acacia chapters at Purdue

A three-hour rally, and two dances. highlighted the weekend activities.

The rally featured Purdue's acting president, John Hicks, along with politi cal candidates, representatives from Af-firmative Action, the Black Caucus, the NAACP, and representatives from each fraternity spon According to Barbara Cook, Purdue's dean of students, "We are facing a diffi-cult time in our country, where differences are not as accepted as they once were in the late 1960s and early 1970s." Brother Elhott, Indians Alpha pre dent, says he recognizes "in the Greek system there is black and white, and in the rost the two have not been closely related Yet, we are all the same, we are all Greek, we all share the same ideas, but we do not socialize all that much "This is an opportunity to promote relations between the chapters on camus and to further extend this unity throughout the campus community

See the sights

The Grand Chapter Conclave is August 11-14, 1993, in one of the most ex-sight-ing cities in America—Chicago. Bring your family and enjoy the museums, art galleries, and planetarium. See the homes of Hemingway. Frank Lloyd Wright, and Edgar Rice Burroughs.

Our downtown location, right on Michigan Avenue, is in the midst of the fashtonable Magnificent Mile shopping district. Walk to Water Tower Place, or to the John Hancock Center, where an elevator will whisk you to the incredible view of Chicago on the 94th floor.
